HOW TO BE MORE ATTRACTIVE?

What makes us attractive? Beauty? Wealth? Success? Power? According to some recent research, it's a lot more complex than that!

As part of a study by 1.[_____] from the University of South Brittany, a 20-year-old man approached 300 women in a shopping centre. He told them that he thought they were "really pretty", and then asked for their phone numbers so they could arrange a date.

For the first 100 women, he was holding a sports bag; for the second group, he had nothing; and for the third lot, he had a guitar case. When he had the sports bag, only 9% of the women agreed to meet up with him again. Fourteen percent gave him their number when he had nothing in his hand. But 31% responded positively when he was holding the guitar case!

A similar study was carried out by the University of Tel Aviv and Ben Curion University. One hundred single women were sent Facebook friend 2.[_____] with a message that said, "I like your photo." For half of the 3.[_____], the request had a profile picture of the man with nothing in his hands; and for the other half, he was playing a guitar. Only 10 % of the 50 women accepted the request or 4.[_____] to the message sent by the empty-handed man. But 28% accepted the request or replied to the message sent by the man holding the guitar!

Another study has found that having a 5.[_____] of humour can help.

Researchers Mary Cowan and Anthony Little filmed 40 psychology students explaining which two items they'd take to a desert island and why. Next, 11 other students watched the videos and 6.[_____] the participants for attractiveness. Interestingly, those participants who had used humour to explain what they'd take to the desert island were considered more attractive.

In another test, scientists found that women find a man in a plain white T-shirt up to 12% more attractive. Apparently, this type of shirt can create an illusion that it 7.[_____] the shoulders and 8.[_____] the waist, producing a more V-shaped body.

A 2010 study by Albright College in Pennsylvania found that both men and women lower the pitch of their voices when they want to signal that they're attracted to another person. And in a further test, men were found to be most 9.[_____] when they had deep, husky voices. Finally, researchers found that we look more attractive in the summer. Two thousand participants were shown "summer" and "winter" photographs of four men and four women. An 10.[_____] 73% said the people in the summer pictures were better looking.

Good luck! And don't forget your guitar case!

THE BAD BOYS AND GIRLS OF HOLLYWOOD

We're all capable of doing some silly things, but some people ought to know better. Maybe it's the pressures of fame: too much money, too many drugs and attention. Here are some silly stars and their dumb moments.

Miss Stickyfingers

On 12th December 2001, Winona Ryder was arrested for shoplifting thousands of dollars' worth of designer clothes and accessories at Saks Fifth Avenue department store in Beverly Hills, California. Ryder hired a top defence attorney. During the trial, 1.[_____]. Ryder was convicted of grand theft and vandalism, but the jury acquitted her on the third charge of burglary.
